

Checklist Policy Issues

Are all the Checklist policy issues listed?

No. The Active Shooter Incident Management Checklist focuses on process and not policy, which is why it works well in so many cases. However, policy issues are unavoidable and will vary from one community to another. We've listed some of the significant policy issues on the web site for consideration, but it should NOT be considered an all-inclusive and exhaustive list.

Each agency/community is responsible for conducting a thorough policy review prior to using the Active Shooter Incident Management Checklist.
